

C. C. PROPOSES JOINT OFFICE FOR 3 BODIES

The board of directors of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce Monday night voted to call a special meeting of the Chamber directors, directors of the Gettysburg Travel Council and directors of the Retail Merchants Association to determine whether the two other groups would be interested in joining the Chamber in a joint office establishment.

The special meeting will be held next Monday night. According to the discussion Monday, Chamber directors believe "the time has come when we need a full-time director with a staff to carry on the work of the various organizations. The only way we can afford one, and the one way in which the work of the groups can be done efficiently is to work together. There are many good men in all three organizations, but they do not have the time to carry on the work of the Chamber of Commerce, Travel Council and Retail Merchants Association and take care of their own businesses. We need a full time man to get the work done most efficiently, avoid overlapping and get the most for our money."

Hear Of Symphony Orchestra

Dr. William Sebastian Hart Jr., teacher at the Peabody Conservatory of Music for the last 19 years, member of the Baltimore Symphony and a radio and television music commentator and musician, told the Chamber of Commerce plans to establish a "Gettysburg Symphony Orchestra."

He said he plans to start in April by securing volunteers from the Gettysburg area — including Chambersburg and Hanover and other nearby communities, who play musical instruments of the type used in symphony orchestras. "I don't know where it will go, I've arranged for use of the Hotel Gettysburg pressroom for practices. I hope I can recruit sufficient talented persons to make up an orchestra, I've already met a number of persons interested who have had the training to take part here in your area. There are school teachers, and

Dulles Warns Of Danger Of Moves By USSR In Domestic Crisis There; U.S. Is Alerted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today that in a period of domestic Russian upheaval the United States and the rest of the free world must be on the alert for possible foreign moves by the Soviet.

Dulles told a news conference he would not want to give the impression that war is just around the corner. He said he does not really think that is true.

But whenever a great nation has internal troubles, he said, it is historical fact that such troubles sometimes lead to external acts. Under such conditions, Dulles said, the United States is always on the alert for what the Soviet Union might do.

Other Timely Statements
The present situation—revolving around the mystery of the reasons for Marshal Georgi Zhukov's dismissal as defense minister has not required any special alert, Dulles said, because all the top people in the U.S. government are aware of the possibilities.

Dulles also made these statements:

Pre-School Polio Clinic Here Nov. 6

A polio clinic for children up to six years of age will be held Wednesday, November 6, at the state clinic room in the Warner Hospital, Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, announced today.

The clinic marks the resumption by the state of the issuance of Salk vaccine to children. It is limited, however, at the present time to those children who are of pre-school age.

The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. with the inoculations to be given by Dr. John Knox. Mothers are asked to bring their pre-school children to the clinic room for the "shots" early because of the time element involved in making out the slips and medical records for the inoculations.

TRICK, TREAT THURSDAY NIGHT TO AID UNICEF

Scores of Adams county youngsters are going to conduct a "Trick and Treat" drive Thursday evening for the benefit of UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund). They will be seeking "treats" of cash to purchase essentials for children of the world.

Mrs. Forrest Craver, in charge of the program, said:

"The children will be readily identified. Each will wear a black and orange label on her coat on which will be the words 'Trick or Treat for the world's children, UNICEF.' In the center will be a profile of a child drinking a glass of milk."

"These youngsters will also carry a container and householders or others who are approached by them are asked to give a donation of money. Any amount will be accepted. However, the more money we collect the more children we can assist."

To Aid 6 Million
"The treats will be essential milk, medicine and health services for the world's six hundred million underprivileged youngsters."

"The money will be used to mend the lives of all the world's children who suffer from tuberculosis, yaws, malnutrition, malaria, typhus and leprosy. All overseas countries who match the funds will receive UNICEF aid."

Grid Contest Winner Loses Full Selection By Tie Tilt

Only a tie game prevented C. Lester Oiler, 32 York St., from turning in a perfect entry in last week's football contest sponsored by The Gettysburg Times and 20 cooperating merchants as he won first prize in correctly naming 18 winners in 19 games. One game was eliminated due to its cancellation.

Mrs. William Holtzworth, 67 W. High St., took second honors in naming 17 winners.

Eight contestants tied for the third prize. It was impossible to break the deadlocks inasmuch as the feature game, Gettysburg vs. Hershey, was cancelled, and the total points for the feature game were eliminated. The total point forecast has repeatedly decided prize winners by breaking ties.

Tying for the third prize were the following, all of whom selected 16 winners: George Gorman, S. Main St., Biglerville; J. Howard Brown, 207 Chambersburg St.; Mrs. Robert Codori, 125 E. Broadway; William M. Conover Sr., R. 1; J. E. Caldwell, Howard Ave.; James Leech, 46 Steinwehr Ave.; Betty L. Ridge, W. Main St.; Emmittsburg, and D. K. James, 359 York St.

Each week a total of $25 in merchandise certificates are offered by merchants, first prize being $15; second, $7.50, and third, $2.50.

Entry blanks may be secured at any of the establishments of the cooperating merchants. They must be fully filled out and submitted to The Gettysburg Times offices not later than Friday at 5 p.m.

Listings for this week's contest games are on page six in today's edition.

ESTEP TELLS OF STORING GAS FOR USE IN WINTER

The underground storage of natural gas was outlined by Julian Estep, manager of the local Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., at a meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary Club Monday evening at the YWCA.

"Use of underground reservoirs for storing natural gas became a necessity because of the vastly expanded use of gas in the east. With greatly expanded use of gas in winter, as compared to summer, the great mains carrying gas here from the southwestern states could not supply all that was needed in the winter, while they supplied more than was needed in summer."

"That left the gas companies with a choice, either build more transmission lines from the southwest, or store the gas somewhere in the east while a surplus was being received during the summer."

Use Old Wells

"To build more transmission lines would be extremely expensive, much more expensive than the finding of a storage place."

"Gas was first discovered in the Appalachians and there were many gas wells there that had long since been exhausted. It was determined to put the gas back into the old wells for storage during the summer months, withdrawing the gas as needed during the winter."

"Restoring the old wells for use storage was not as expensive as new transmission pipes. When the old wells were closed no one had thought that they would be used again, and so they had to be cleaned out, new casing put in, and new equipment installed. Each well had to be checked by complicated electronic equipment to see that it was still in usable condition."

"You may, because most people do, think of a gas well as a pipe tapping some cavern filled with gas. Actually the reservoirs for gas are solid rock—but it is porous rock, usually sandstone, around which is a

Chairman Of RCA Says Time For Victory In "Cold War" With Russia Is Running Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Industrialist David Sarnoff said today that time for victory in the cold war is running out under the pressure of Soviet success in weapon technology.

"If we are to win the cold war, or at least obtain the upper hand in it, it must be done before mankind is overwhelmed by the holocaust of hydrogen war," Sarnoff said.

Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corp. of America and a retired Army brigadier general, prepared his remarks for the annual meeting of the Assn. of the Army of the United States.

ICBM Perfection Certain

OKAY PLANS FOR ADDITIONS TO 2 HIGH SCHOOLS

Preliminary plans for additions to the Biglerville and East Berlin High School structures were approved by the Adams County Board of School Directors at their monthly meeting Monday evening at the office of the county superintendent of schools, Carlisle St.

In neither case was there a listing of the proposed number of rooms to be added. In the case of East Berlin the board was informed that the plans call for additional classrooms and a kitchen and cafeteria for the present high school building which, it is planned, will eventually become an elementary center when a new high school building is built somewhere between East Berlin and York Springs in the Bermudian Springs Joint School System.

At Biglerville High School plans call for additional classrooms there to meet anticipated increases in enrollment.

Plan Directors' Convention
In both cases the forms approved by the county board were preliminary ones which provide for the state Department of Public Instruction to send a specialized team to go over the future plans and make recommendations as to the number of rooms and type needed. The form also puts the school districts in line for state rental reimbursement after the additions are built.

After the state teams have met with the school officials in the Upper Adams and Bermudian Springs districts, plans will be drawn covering the room schedules and submitted to the county board for approval.

Committees Named
Two committees were selected for the annual Adams County School Directors' convention December 6 at the Fairfield Joint High School.

BREAK GROUND FOR SUMMIT MINING LAB

The Summit Mining Corporation Monday broke ground for a laboratory at its Aspers plant to carry out quality control work and research into the development of new products for the organization.

Decision to construct the planned 1200-square-foot, concrete block one-story structure to be filled with the latest in scientific laboratory equipment, was made January 1 when the company decided to undertake its first research and development program "for the more effective utilization of its raw materials into more diverse markets."

Peter F. Bianchetti, mining and development engineer for the company, will head the research and quality control laboratory.

Other Expansion Plans
George W. Ahl Jr., president and general manager of the mining corporation, said at the ground breaking ceremony Monday that "this is a most significant step in our company's progress and through its effective use the company will be able to meet the demands of the fast and competitive economy into which our products are going."

He noted that the laboratory "is an integral part of the research and development program by which the company can improve its present products and develop new products for new markets and extend its services to its customers."

The laboratory is one of several expansion programs for the firm. A new "super classifier" mill is scheduled for construction at the Aspers site.

The new laboratory is to be located about 200 yards from the present Summit Mining plant.

Progress Among Civilians
In another prepared address, Dr. Willard F. Libby, atomic energy commissioner, told of the progress in educating the civilian population to the realities of nuclear war.

Zhukov May Be Gaining Power In Scrap With Russian Chief

By TOM OCHILTREE
LONDON (U. S. —) Indications grew today that Marshal Georgi Zhukov had rallied unexpected support in a showdown battle over power and policies inside the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist party.

The delay in announcing a decision on whether Zhukov would remain a member of the ruling party Presidium contributed to an impression that a battle was on between the marshal and Soviet party boss Nikita Khrushchev.

The impression was heightened by the tight Moscow censorship. Even the Communist press outside the Soviet Union seemed confused by the blackout on information. Hints of a behind-the-scenes struggle came from editorials in Soviet newspapers, impressions of Western diplomats in Moscow and dispatches from Communist correspondents in the Soviet capital.

Delay Announcement
Inferences were drawn from reports the Central Committee had been meeting off and on since the 61-year-old marshal's ouster as defense minister Saturday. It had been expected to make an important announcement early today after an all-night session, but it remained silent.

However, news correspondents with experience in Moscow said the delay on any public announcement may be due simply to the mechanics of giving advance word to party committees throughout the country.

Reports to London had said the announcement would tell of the marshal's removal from the 15-man party Presidium which he joined as a full member only four months ago.

Editorials in the Communist press indicated the marshal was being accused of interfering with party control of the army.

MORE

Counterattack Hinted
The lack of an announcement suggested he may have staged a counterattack in the six-story gray stone building in the heart of Moscow where the Central Committee meets.

Even if Zhukov eventually is vanquished, Western quarters are intrigued by indications that the tough marshal had been able to put up a fight at all.

The stage of the battle was the same as last June when Khrushchev is reported to have appealed to the Central Committee, after an adverse decision in the Presidium, and won out over the three stalwarts, V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich. Khrushchev may have set a precedent then by which some Central Committee members got the idea they had a veto over the Presidium.

Trapped In Rock
"Gas came into existence when the earth was young, and covered with green, lush swamps which later were buried. Tiny animals, the vegetation and other organic material of the swamps was covered by additional sediment and this organic material gradually decayed under increasing heat and pressure, and as it decayed gases and other hydrocarbons evolved and they became trapped in the porous rock reservoirs that were formed by the earth's upheavals and which we tap today."
In Revolutionary War days reports of mysterious burning springs indicated to us the presence of gas. The first natural gas well was drilled in 1815 near Charleston, W. Va. Capt. James Wilson was drilling for brine, and found natural gas. It didn't take long for people to find out that gas could be used for light and heat and so in the 1870s and 1880s hundreds of wells were drilled in the Appalachians.
"Today the Appalachian area can no longer supply the gas needed for the east. But its old wells are being used as reservoirs, with the gas forced under tremendous pressures into the reservoirs created hundreds of thousands of years ago."
Estep also showed a motion picture of the cleaning and transformation of old gas wells into reservoirs.
Dr. Frederick Shaffer told the Rotarians UNICEF Christmas cards are available at the YWCA at $1.25 a box. L. S. Long told "How I Came To Gettysburg." Dr. Harold Dunkelberger, president, presided at the meeting with 52 present.

"SINGING"

Whenever I hear someone singing . . . as they go along . . . my heart is touched with gladness . . . by the wonder of their song . . . it tells me they have found a way . . . to drive out life's despair . . . for melody is medicine . . . that tempers every care . . . when people sing, somehow it seems . . . like everything's all right . . . a voice aglow with music makes . . . the darkest outlook bright . . . there's magic in a chorus as . . . they make the rafters ring . . . God gave us a priceless treasure . . . when He let us sing . . . nature herself is blessed with songs . . . of water, wind and bird . . . wherever we may chance to go . . . her warbling is heard . . . songs bridge the stream to yesterday . . . they keep faith and hope high . . . yes, singing is a wondrous thing . . . that more of us should try.

HELD IN BAIL AS A WITNESS

NEW YORK — Anthony Coppola, sidekick of slain mobster Albert Anastasia, has been held in $50,000 bail as a material witness in his boss' shooting.

Authorities say they fear the 49-year-old paunchy Coppola would suffer the same bloody fate as Anastasia if he were set free.

"If this man was let out, it may very well be the beginning of open warfare by the hoodlums in this city," Alexander Herman, assistant district attorney in charge of the Homicide Bureau, warned yesterday in General Sessions Court.

Judge Abraham N. Geller agreed with Herman in fixing the high bond for Coppola.

Joseph Panzer, Coppola's lawyer, predicted that the bail will be posted within a day or two.

"There's nothing on earth I fear," bragged Coppola, who often has been described as Anastasia's bodyguard-chauffeur.

"I was just a friend of his . . . I haven't an enemy in the world and I thought Mr. Anastasia hadn't any either. May God have mercy on his soul wherever he is."

FIFTY YEARS AGO

General Local Jottings: Stone Jug is the name of a hamlet here in Adams Co. This year is a big apple crop in and around Stone Jug, which presages plenty of cider to fill the Stone Jug when cold weather arrives.

The Samuel C. Jacobs barn in Reading Twp. was raised by Contractor Darone last Friday without the least mishap. 70 helpers, including six carpenters, did the complete raising of the 50x75 structure from the ground up in eight hours.

Local hunters as a general rule think the action of the last Legislature in making Oct. 15 the opening of the rabbit season an unwise one. Old and experienced hunters declare the old rabbits are in no condition for eating at this time and the young ones are not fully developed.

While John C. Forry and Levi Sowers, of near Pine Run were out gunning last week the former met with a painful accident. While firing at a rabbit with a double-barrel gun both barrels were discharged at the same time and burst the gun, a part of which struck Mr. Forry's arm, causing a painful wound. Dr. T. C. Miller of Abbottstown, rendered the necessary surgical attention.

Amos Moyer, successor of the late Elias Hartz as the goose bone weather prophet, made a prediction after reading the breast of a goose hatched out last spring and says we're in for a hard winter. Dark spots on the bone indicate a succession of cold spells, culminating in a blizzard or two in February. Spring will be very late.

Public Meeting: The public meeting held at the Court House Tuesday evening was fairly attended and a number of matters were discussed. The meeting was called to order by H. T. Weaver, who nominated Wm. Arch. McClean as presiding officer. On taking the chair he made a few remarks and among other things, referring to the memorial structure or monument to be erected here.

He suggested that a committee be appointed to confer with the memorial committee. He also took up the matters of a business men's auxiliary and civic improvements.

Hon. Wm. H. Tipton moved that an organization be effected and that a board of managers consisting of nine men be appointed by the president and that they determine the character of the organization to be formed. It was understood that the president be on this board. The motion was carried.

J. L. Butt, Esq., and Hon. D. P. McPherson spoke on the matters of dues, constitution and bylaws and such details.

H. T. Weaver said that to make the organization effective some capital would have to be raised to do the work. He suggested that the membership fee and dues be made sufficiently large.

Hon. R. Wm. Bream made a stirring address in which he roundly condemned the streets of Gettysburg. Mr. Bream said that no township in the county had as bad roads as Gettysburg, that they were disgraceful the year round. He spoke of the bad influence the streets have on the tourist trade, and urged the betterment of conditions in general.

Hon. Wm. H. Tipton, among others, referred to the appropriation for a memorial at this place suggested a memorial building in which could be placed various things pertaining to the battle of great interest to every American. The matter of sprinkling the streets was commented upon by several speakers, among them being J. L. Butt.

Resuming the talk concerning the betterment of the town streets, Mr. Weaver said that he felt the Borough Council needed the backing of the representative men of town in such matters and that was what was needed to get better streets for the town. Mr. Weaver said that he favored paved streets.

Today's Talk

AUTUMN'S GLOW

I always look forward to the matchless beauty of the autumn days, especially those of October. All about me as I write are the silently falling leaves of gold, crimson, violet, and shaded browns. The Great Artist is at work, the Master of Heaven and Earth. There is not another season of the year so full of the spirit of peace and good will.

From my library window I look out upon a tapestry of color that the Creator alone could compose and meld into such glory. Silently and persistently the leaves of the maple, oak, dogwood and elm fall to the earth. I walk over my yard and pick up a handful of golden maple leaves. What a work of art! Each leaf with its own circulatory system, and how delicate and perfect. And note the exact duplication of form and design. How can we ever cease to wonder?

We look upon the falling leaves of autumn as part of the tree's death, but this is not so. The trees are only going into their temporary sleep. The springtime will be an awakening! There is a continuity to all nature. There is a new-born poet hidden in the beauty of every leaf and tree. And I like to fancy that the Angels take their holiday in October's glow!

Nature is so thrifty. What a teacher she is! All we have to do is use our eyes and watch her movements, and those of her inhabitants. Valuable lessons have been learned from her. We have yet to learn so much. Many of the things that have blessed mankind were first learned from nature. We think of this fact as we watch the glow of autumn take on its splendor.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Sustaining Power".

Just Folks

THE WHISTLING BOY
Long before the sun is painting
Blazing gold the eastern rim,
Or before the stars have faded
And their light is growing dim,
Comes a whistle, Oh, so merry!
Sounding far adown the street.
And I know the little newsboy
Once again is on his beat.

Care-free happy little youngster
As you whistle on your way,
Light of heart and free from sorrow
You are at the dawn of day;
And you know no care or burden.
Smooth the path before your feet;
So I bid you keep on whistling
As you travel on your beat.

Life is now unopened to you,
But the years will bring their cares;
And the trials and the sorrows
Will steal on you unawares.
But I trust what'er befalls you,
What it be your fate to meet,
You will have the heart to whistle
As you travel on your beat.

HOUSE HIT TWICE IN THREE HOURS

ALTOONA, Pa.—Walter Evans left a little uneasily last night. So did his wife.

Late yesterday afternoon two autos collided at an intersection a few feet from the Evans home at nearby East Freedom. The autos locked together and smashed into a wall of the house.

Little more than three hours later a truck and auto came together and they, too, smashed into the Evans home.

The wall of the home was damaged but no one inside the house was hurt. Two of the four drivers were injured. One, Peter W. Odental, 44, of Portage, Pa., was reported in critical condition today.

"It makes a person wonder if they shouldn't move to a safer location," Mrs. Evans said.

Burg Woman's Bible Society was held Sunday evening, Oct. 27, in St. James Church. The pastor, Dr. Clutz, presided. Rev. Woods read the 1st Psalm. Dr. Barkley led in prayer and Rev. Woods read the reports of the society. The Rev. Henry Austad, preached the sermon. At the business meeting the old officers were re-elected as follows: Pres., Mrs. Helen Keith; vice pres., Miss Annie R. Danner; sec., Miss Margaret McClean; treas., Mrs. Chas. H. Huff; and librarian, Miss Agnes Barr.

Local Miscellany: Mrs. Max Davis has had a set of marble steps and a new porch erected at her house, occupied by Mrs. Hankey, N. Washington St.

Adam Foutz has been appointed trustee officer by the Gettysburg School Board.

The annual chrysanthemum show at Cashtown will be held on Saturday, Nov. 9. The display promises to be a most beautiful one.

Science Writer Describes What Life Will Be Like On Spaceship — In Only 10 Yrs.

(Editor's Note—What is there in space that pulls the minds of men with more force than earth's gravity? Maybe it's just the same lure of the unknown that sent explorers across oceans and pioneers across plains. Whatever the reason, it's there. And since space is just around the corner, it's time to examine what's out there and how man can make his way through it. This is the first of four articles.)

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK—Your wrist watch tells you it is high noon.

You glance out a porthole, and the sky is entirely black, save for awesomely brilliant, unwinking stars.

Your nose itches. You reach to scratch, and slap your own face viciously. . . . You forget again about no gravity.

Suddenly a too-loud PING echoes through the ship. You freeze in fright, wondering if a meteor made a hole. . . . then relax, for no alarm signal sounds.

In 10 Years Maybe
Thirsty, you drink some water, but not from a glass. It comes from a plastic squeeze bottle, with the nozzle carefully planted in your mouth.

For you are going to the moon or Mars abroad a spaceship, where life is fantastically different from earth.

The time—10 years among optimistically, maybe many more. Expert estimates vary.

But this is the promise now that the space age has opened with a little man-made moon circling the earth.

General Plans Drawn
More little moons are coming. American as well as Russian, during the current International Geophysical Year.

They will discover actual space conditions and the hazards which partly will determine when and how humans go journeying safely through space.

Rocket and space experts have drawn the general plans, even designed ships and protective measures to vault humans to our sister planets. . . . and home again.

It's only your second day out on this rocket hurtling through space, so you can be excused for having slapped yourself when your nose itched. Really, you're rapidly getting used to a most peculiar problem of weightlessness, from lack of gravity.

Nothing Has Weight
Your brain told you to lift your hand gently to your nose. But you used the same effort you would have used on earth. Here, undeterred by gravity, your hand would move up like a boxer's lightning jab.

For your ship is really falling through space, not influenced by the earth's gravity. You have no weight, neither does anything else aboard the ship.

High-flying jet pilots experience this same thing sometimes for brief moments when their planes' centrifugal force balances gravity.

Strange Sensation
They find it a mighty strange sensation, there's no feeling of up or down. Your usual senses fail you. Some find weightlessness upsetting; others say it's not bad or even pleasant.

Except for the foresight of your spaceship's planners, you might be having a terrible time with weightlessness. You still might at times, in some parts of the ship.

With no gravity, you feel like you are constantly falling into a bottomless pit. A slight push of your foot sends you flying into the air. Sneezes, and you'd fly backward to bang against a cabin wall.

Who's Upside Down
Is that passenger across the cabin standing upside down — or are you? At meals, drop a piece of toast, and it hangs in the air. Your meat would be fastened to a plate, you might eat it by grabbing it with a clamp. The lift of a fork could sent it flying to the ceiling.

But your ship preferably is spinning, creating centrifugal force to substitute for gravity. The director, "down" is the outer edge of your round, spinning spaceship.

Gravity gave you a bad moment, you recall, at take-off from earth. The quick acceleration from powerful rocket engines made you feel like lead, with a weight four to ten times greater than that of normal gravity.

Dined At Space Platform
But it was soon over, and you taxied up to the space platform 500 miles above earth, dined there and then boarded this ship for the journey to Mars.

You're aware, and glad of, the forced ventilation. Otherwise you might suffocate. If air has no weight, warm and cold air don't circulate automatically. The air you breathed out could stay right in front of your face, depriving you of oxygen.

Oxygen for a short moon trip comes perhaps from liquid oxygen, turning to gas as it warms up. On this many-weeks jaunt, a special greenhouse of algae or other plant life supplies the oxygen, using the carbon dioxide you breathed out.

Worry About Meteors
Your cabin is, of course, pressurized. You know you'd live only a few seconds in the vacuum of space, unless protected by special pressurized space suits.

This worries you some. Space is crowded with flying meteors, traveling thousands of miles an hour, mostly very tiny. But a big one could smash straight through your ship. The little pioneer man-made moons found this chance was fairly small. Your ship has double walls, the outer one halting tiny meteors. An alarm system warns of any hole for quick plugging.

And your ship is made of special materials to reduce risks from radioactivity of cosmic rays and X-rays from the sun. Again, the IGY moons spelled out the risk.

No Real Temperature
You gaze out the porthole, and wonder how cold it is right outside in space. The captain explains: Space has no temperature really as we ordinarily mean temperature. There's precious little air to heat up. The side of the ship exposed to the sun gets very hot, but the side in shadow is very cold and radiates heat into space. Special arrangements of materials and coatings that reflect or radiate heat help keep you comfortable inside the ship.

The nothingness of space is why it is black, also. There is no air to scatter light. Stars shine with brilliant steadiness.

Up ahead shines Mars, and soon you'll know for yourself just what his "canals" really are.

Tomorrow: The how of space travel.

13-DAY ROMP IN CATSKILLS ENDS FOR ELEPHANT

MITCHELL HOLLOW, N. Y.—Slam, the Catskills elephant, munched today on whiskey-soaked feed while residents of this area relaxed. The unlikely safari was over.

The 2½-ton female, considerably chastened by a cold and hunger, submitted meekly to her captors yesterday.

This was not the same girl who had been romping in the Catskill Mountains for 13 days, defying safaris of all sorts, aircraft and her trainers.

Back At The Farm
Today she was back at the farm she fled Oct. 16. After a week's response "to settle her mind" she again will take up the television and circus life that she had forsaken for a simple pastoral existence.

A posse trailed the tired animal yesterday several miles through woods until she finally halted near a quarry. She had been caught twice during the day, but had broken away.

Alfred Vidbel, one of her trainers, simply walked up to her and talked. She listened while an assistant put hobbling chains on her legs.

Then she lumbered up a ramp and was off to the farm she had fled when she was frightened by galloping horses.

Given Penicillin
A veterinarian, after making a quick check with a zoo, administered a shot of penicillin and prescribed whiskey in the feed. Two tumblerfuls were dropped in.

The veterinarian said that Siam's temperature was one degree below normal and that she had a cold in her eyes. But he found the 13-year-old suffering mostly from upset nerves and shock.

Mrs. Vidbel said Siam received an excited and noisy welcome from her two fellow performers Bombay and Elhi, also females. They have been together about seven years.

PENNSYLVANIA'S INTERSTATE AND DEFENSE SYSTEM OF HIGHWAYS

Shown on this map are the generally approved routes of the projected 1,446 miles of Interstate and Defense highways to be built in Pennsylvania. These "dream highways" will be constructed during the next 12 or more years under the Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956. All these routes will be limited access of four or more lanes, with a wide median strip separating opposing traffic. There will be grade separations for all intersecting roads and railroads. These "dream highways" are progressing in many sections of the Commonwealth, as follows:

1. In Berks and Lehigh counties between Harrisburg and Easton;
2. In York county between Harrisburg and Baltimore;
3. In Philadelphia, on the Schuylkill Expressway from the Valley Forge Interchange of the turnpike;
4. In Pittsburgh and Allegheny county on the Penn-Lincoln Parkway;

5. On the Harrisburg Expressway in Dauphin and Cumberland counties;
6. In Westmoreland and Washington counties between the New Stanton Interchange of the turnpike and West Virginia;
7. In Lackawanna and Susquehanna counties between Scranton and New York state;
8. In Fulton county between the Breezewood Interchange of the turnpike and Maryland;
9. In Erie county between New York state and Ohio, which will connect the New York Thruway with the Ohio Turnpike.

With the completion of this vast system of "dream highways" the savings in time and money, to motorists and truckers alike, will more than pay for them. A great reduction in traffic deaths and costly accidents is expected.

These highways will be built to accommodate all predicted traffic volumes and loads anticipated in 1975 and will serve well into the next century.

BING'S OLDEST FAILS TO SEND FELICITATIONS

HOLLYWOOD—A happy Bing Crosby and his pretty bride settled down today to a workday marriage—but there was one worry on the old groaner's mind.

He admitted in an exclusive interview that they had received congratulations from all his four sons except Gary, the eldest.

"I don't know why I haven't heard from him," Bing said. "He must be on a tour or something."

Older Than Bride
Gary, at 23, is a few months older than the new Mrs. Crosby.

Bing was at CBS radio by 10 a.m. yesterday and by 1 p.m. had recorded 11 songs for his radio show.

Champagne Toast
During a luncheon break, the crew broke out a few bottles of champagne and toasted Bing and his bride.

She was across the street at the time for wardrobe tests in "Gunman's Walk," an upcoming Western in which she will costar with Van Heflin.

Bing revealed that the marriage was far from a hasty decision on his part, even though he had broken up with Kathy almost a year ago. He started dating her again about 10 days before the wedding.

"States Of Shock"
"But never during all that time had I ever given up thinking about marrying her," he said. "I

Plan Wage Study In Hotels, Motels

HARRISBURG—A new nine-member board will study the wage scales of women and minors in the restaurant hotel and motel industry.

The board will hold its first meeting in Harrisburg today.

Secretary of Labor and Industry William L. Batt Jr. named to the board:

Public—Frederick G. Weir, Pittsburgh, chairman; S. T. Alexander, Philadelphia, and Dr. Maxine Woolfson, Bryn Mawr.

Employees — Robert Conley, Irwin; Frank E. Davenport Jr., Harrisburg, and Bennett E. Tousey, Philadelphia.

Employees — Alfonso Caterino, Pittsburgh, and Lawrence Stoltz, Philadelphia.

FRANKLIN, Pa.—William E. Barrow, 77, former president and general manager of the Job Mfg. Co. in Franklin and retired bank executive, died Monday.

Just didn't know how to make the move.

Kathy conceded the wedding was somewhat surprising to her. "You might say I was in a small state of shock," she said, "but it was such happy shock."

Crosby had these final words to say about his bride: "She's a wonderful, wonderful girl. I couldn't be happier."

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.—A huge telescopic camera which can take 60 pictures a second of missiles as much as 50 to 100 miles away is being used to photograph the rise of rockets from launching pads at the missile test center here.

MUCH TO BE DONE

HARRISBURG—Gov. Leader says there is "much to be done" in Pennsylvania to improve migrant labor camps, but that the commonwealth's present camps are as good or better than other states.

The governor based his conclusion on the final report of his Interdepartmental Committee on Migrant Labor.

Leader said the committee will continue to work through the winter on the problem.

Biglerville And Scotland Battle To 6-6 Stalemate; Fumbles Lead To Scores

Despite holding an upper hand in practically every department, the unbeaten Biglerville High School football team was forced to accept a 6-6 tie with Scotland in a hard fought battle played before a comparatively thin crowd on a cold Canner field Monday evening. The tie snapped a five-game winning streak for Jack Emanuel's team which is now 5-0-2. Scotland now sports a 3-1-1 record.

Scotland's score came with stunning rapidity in the waning moments of the first half.

With less than a minute of play remaining, Bernard Dickerson, end, pounced on a Biglerville fumble on the Cadets' 28. After a pass fell incomplete, Scotland completely fooled the Canners on the old Statue of Liberty play, Ron Ford taking the ball from John Duggan, reversing his field twice and running 60 yards for a score. Paul Fochler's pass to Dickerson for the point fell incomplete. The half ended after Scotland had kicked off to the Canners.

A pair of Scotland fumbles set up the Biglerville score which came late in the third period.

Beatty, Hess Recover
The first was recovered by Dick Beatty, guard, on the Biglerville 32 after which the Canners, led by Parker Coble and John Harmon, drove into Cadet territory but was forced to punt. Gerry McCauslin's boot set Scotland back deep in its own territory. The stout Canner defense held and moments later Dennis Hess, Canner tackle, recovered a fumble on the Scotland 2. On the first play Coble smacked through right tackle to tie the score. Coble was stopped when he attempted to carry over for the extra point.

The hard-fighting Canners looked like they might put the game from the fire when they drove to the Scotland 30 midway in the last period via five straight first downs on the fine running of Coble and Harman but Scotland held and took over at that point.

Passes Fall
Fochler, a brilliant punter during the game, got off a long punt to the Biglerville 15 a short time later and the Canners drove for a first down on the Scotland 45 with 1:15 minutes remaining. After Kermit Jacoby picked up two yards, Biglerville took to the air but all of Dick Byers' three passes fell incomplete as the Cadets took over on the 43. Ford broke away for a first down on the Canner 39 but he was stopped on the next play as the game ended.

Biglerville returns to Laurel Conference competition Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when it meets West York on the latter's field.

The auxiliary voted to join the Central Regional Association of the Pennsylvania Association of Hospital Auxiliaries.

It was announced that the regional association consists of auxiliaries in 19 Pennsylvania counties and holds three meetings a year to exchange ideas and hold workshops on auxiliary activities.

Mrs. Perinchief Speaks
Mrs. Gifford, as program chairman, introduced Mrs. P. J. Perinchief, wife of the head of the current hospital fund drive, who outlined the operations of workshops held by such groups as the Central Regional Association of the Pennsylvania Association of Hospital Auxiliaries.

She also told the group "Members of the auxiliary can do more for public relations than any other group in the hospital, because they can carry the story of the hospital to all other groups. Thus it is important for the members of the auxiliary to know all about their hospital, for they will be asked questions and they should know the answers. Some auxiliaries help solve this problem by sending out newsletters to members so that they are constantly aware of all changes and new activities at their hospital."

The next meeting will be held November 25.

Willie Marshall Is Hockey's Standout

NEW YORK (AP)—Hershey's Willie Marshall is rocketing toward ice hockey's "triple crown" in the American League.

The 25-year-old center for the league-leading Bears has a total of 18 points on nine goals and nine assists for the lead in all three offensive departments.

League statistics released today show Marshall with a five point edge over runner-up Jimmy Moore of Cleveland for the scoring title. Providence rookie Bill Sweeney and Hershey's Dunc Fisher trail with 12 points in a tie for third place.

Veteran goalie Gil Mayer, also of Hershey, is the goaltending pacesetter allowing a low of 2.20 goals per game.

JOE KUCHARICH NOT SURPRISED BY REDSKINS

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
WASHINGTON (AP)—How can a pro football team look so bad one week and so good the next?

Pose the question. Coach Joe Kuharich, whose Washington Redskins have soared and sunk on alternative Sundays, and he tosses back a question of his own:

"How come Sam Snead shot a 68 one day and a 76 the next?"

So Many Angles
In either case, Kuharich said today, there are so many angles it's hard to finger any single one.

"In golf, maybe a key shot trickles into a trap instead of holding to the fairway. In football, you miss a tackle on the line or in the hole and you suffer. Football is a game of errors. The team that makes the most will lose."

The Redskins, loop-de-loops of the National Football League, have these results to show for a 2-3 record to date: Lost to Pittsburgh, 28-7; beat Chicago Cards 37-14; lost to New York, 24-20; lost to same Cards, 44-14; beat same Giants, 31-14.

No Surprise Now
Nothing surprises Kuharich in pro football, where all teams are pretty much in balance and each has the ability to score on any play from anywhere on the field at any moment of the game. The Redskins have made hay with some slick quarterbacking by little Eddie LeBaron, the league's leading passer, artful receiving by end Johnny Carson and fine running by rookie backs Jim Ponder, Don Bosseler and Ed Staley. Defensively, they've had good days and bad.

Talent aside, Kuharich listed "fumbles, interceptions and official decisions at crucial moments as the most telling factors in a football game."

Likes To Run Over People
Last week Bryant changed the defense up somewhat and Crow didn't think he had done the proper job in the new plan. "Don't give up on me, coach," he said after the game, which A&M won 14-0 over Baylor on the running and defense of Crow.

Big John doesn't run up and down the field like a Red Grange or a Jim Sink. His running is more subtle. Some of his greatest gains have been for two and three-yard gains at the goal line.

"I prefer to grind out three and four yards at a time on our touchdown drives," he said. "To me, that's football."

What the big man from Spring Hill, La., meant was that he liked to run over people.

SHANTZ VOTED AL COMEBACK PLAYER OF '57

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"It was darn nice of the fellows to remember me," said little Bobby Shantz today upon learning he had been voted the American League comeback player of the year in an Associated Press poll of baseball writers.

Sixty-nine of the 152 participating writers in the annual poll voted for Shantz. Gene Woodling, Cleveland outfielder, was named on 32 ballots. Ted Williams of Boston, who won the league batting title, was third with 12 votes followed by Washington outfielder Roy Sivers and Baltimore pitcher Billy Loes, each with nine.

Shantz' modest reaction was typical of the tiny southpaw who almost quit baseball two years ago because of shoulder miseries. His troubles started in September 1952, the year he won 24 games for the Philadelphia Athletics and was selected the league's most valuable player.

Rest Did Trick
In mid-September, Shantz was hit by a pitch and suffered a broken wrist. Then came the shoulder trouble — torn tendons, the doctors said. He won 13 games in three years for the Athletics who later became the Kansas City A's.

"If they had released me, I'd have quit baseball," said Bobby. "What cured the arm?"

"Frankly, I don't know. Fans sent me bottles of all kinds of stuff, everything including horse liniment. I tried them all. Actually, I think rest really did it. I saw at least half a dozen doctors, took hundreds of X-rays, held the arm up, down and out, but I think rest did it."

John Crow Is Texas Aggie's Steam Roller
The heart of the Texas Aggies as they roll unbeaten along the football trail rated No. 1 in the nation is a big guy who just likes to run over people.

He's John Crow, a 210-pounder halfback who never considers defeat. He's the fellow who assures the coach there's nothing to worry about, that the team is going to win the ball game come what may.

It doesn't matter to Crow who does it either. For that reason Coach Paul Bryant says he's "an All-America in my book. He has only a burning desire for the team to win."

But Crow usually is the individual who puts the team over. If it isn't running over people like a truck it's making the big play on defense.

Laurel Meet To Open Thursday

LAUREL, Md. — Several of the nation's top jockeys and promising apprentice boys will either be riding out Laurel's 11-day fall meeting opening Thursday or commuting between here and Garden State Park. Post time is 1 p.m.

Stated for Laurel's opening day action and frequent trips are veterans Joe Culmone and R. J. (Bobby) Martin. Culmone, who tied with Willie Shoemaker as the country's leading rider in 1950 with 368 winners and who paced Laurel's winners this spring, will do most of the saddle duty for Trainer Frank A. Bonsal on both the Maryland and Jersey racing fronts.

Martin, popular Baltimorean, will be here Thursday to work Mrs. Herbert Herff's Tudor Era on the grass in preparation for Saturday's $20,000 added Turf Cup, and will accept mounts on the opening program.

Shippensburg Tops Small Grid Teams
JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Unbeaten Shippensburg wrestled first place from Edinboro in this week's standings of the Pennsylvania State Teachers College Football Conference.

Shippensburg advanced by defeating Edinboro 20-14 Saturday in a game arranged after Mansfield called off its scheduled meeting with Edinboro because of flu. The Red Raiders have a 4-0 record against conference opponents and a rating of 237 points.

Lock Haven, also unbeaten in four conference games, holds second place with 225 points. Kutztown, West Chester and Edinboro are tied for third with 200 points each.

Princeton Coach To Remain In Hospital
PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—Charlie Caldwell, whose sure hand on the football field molded many outstanding Princeton teams, remained in Princeton Hospital today, his condition unchanged.

The 56-year-old Caldwell was admitted yesterday for possible surgery and his condition was listed as serious. He spent the night under an oxygen tent.

Caldwell's physician, Dr. J. Mercer Rampona, ordered him to the hospital yesterday morning because of complications "arising from an infection."

Caldwell was granted a leave of absence from Princeton just before the regular season opened. He had seen the Tigers through their pre-season training at Blairstown Camp.

Orange Bowl Bid At Stake Saturday
By MERCER BAILEY
ATLANTA (AP)—Duke, one of the nation's top football powers and a leading candidate for the Orange Bowl, will come to town Saturday to play Georgia Tech's below-par Engineers.

Tech, which usually is beginning to get bowl fever about this time every year, is virtually out of the post-season picture. The Engineers, almost 50 per cent sophomore among the regulars, have won two, lost two and tied one.

Duke is unbeaten but was held to a tie Saturday by North Carolina State.

Boston Battle To Be Slugfest
BOSTON (AP)—Former welterweight king Tony DeMarco and veteran Virgil Akins meet for the Massachusetts version of the world's 147-pound championship tonight in a scheduled 15-round bout which shapes up as a slugfest from the opening bell.

Realizing victory a "must" to stay in contention for world recognition, both fighters were prepared to shoot for a knockout in their Boston Garden clash unavailable to television and radio audiences.

DeMarco, the No. 1 contender for the title vacated by Carmen Basilio's advance to the middleweight championship, was made a 10-8 choice by the odds makers because of his punching power.

With television and radio blacked out, promoter John Buckley predicted a crowd of some 10,000 and a gross gate of between $60,000 and $70,000.

DeMarco has a record of 54-9-1 including 31 knockouts, and has been stopped four times, twice by Basilio in title matches. Akins has a 45-15-1 mark, with 24 kayos. He has been stopped twice.

Crosby Has Stock In Detroit Tigers
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bing Crosby has acquired not only a lovely young bride, but also about 5 1/2 per cent of the Detroit Tigers baseball team.

The singer's brother and long-time spokesman, Larry, announced last night Bing has exercised an option to buy stock in the team, which finished fourth last season in the American League.

Bing was a member of the syndicate which bought the Detroit team last year.

At that time, baseball Commissioner Ford Frick ruled Bing could own only a token share in the Tigers because he also held stock in the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League.

Larry Crosby said that if Frick approves, Bing's four sons ultimately will buy the singer's approximately 10 per cent interest in the Pirates.

Larry Crosby declined to disclose the value of the Detroit stock.

Tommy Tibbs Wins His First TV Bout
By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—For a fighter who has lost more than he has won, little Tommy Tibbs gets a lot of work.

And the aggressive New England lightweight champion is going to see plenty more action off his lopsided decision in ten rounds over Frankie Ippolito of New York at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

It was Tibbs' debut on a network television scrap. He scored a hit with the fans.

The victory was Tibbs' 40th. He has lost 43 and drawn in three others. He has fought many top featherweights and lightweights.

Referee Napp had Tibbs far ahead, 9-1. Judge Sam from made it 6-3-1 and Judge Frankie Ippolito, 7-3. The AP card had Tibbs in front, 8-2.

It was Ippolito's seventh defeat. He has won 20.

Plane Stops On City Street For Directions
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—City Patrolman Larry Eversull has often been asked for directions—but never before from an airplane.

The light plane landed on a city street yesterday evening near Eversull's patrol car and taxied out. The unidentified pilot leaned out and yelled he was "going to Montana" and where was the nearest airport.

The stunned policeman told him and the pilot took off.

"I should have given him a ticket," Eversull recalled too late.

BELLOWS ARE USED AS SPRINGS ON NEW BUICK

Air-poise suspension, which is available on all 1958 Buicks, literally permits the car to float on four columns of air.

Four bellows filled with compressed air replace the traditional steel springs in the new suspension system, which automatically keeps the car level regardless of load.

"We've taken the bounce out of rough roads and reduced the possibility of 'bottoming' when the car hits a big bump," says Oliver K. Kelley, Buick's chief engineer. "This is an entirely new design principle which produces a result that suspension engineers have been struggling to obtain for years."

The new Buick suspension completely controls the road shock absorbing rate of the car to create the ideal condition of a ride tailored precisely to the type of road traveled, using compressed air instead of the traditional steel springs. A high pressure tank, fed from a compressor run by the engine, is mounted on the frame of the car. The air in the tank is maintained at 290 pounds pressure per square inch. Air pressure in the bellows is maintained at 100 pounds pressure per square inch.

Each bellows is composed of a chamber consisting of a metal container or dome into which a rubber diaphragm is compressed by means of a specially-shaped plunger connected to the suspension. Air is fed to or released from the bellows.

"We have contributed considerably to the safety factor with this new suspension," Kelley says, "Regardless of the number of passengers being carried the car remains at the same height, adjusting itself automatically up or down as the load increases or decreases. As a result the headlights remain focused properly on the road. Front and rear torsional stabilizers, which are a part of the suspension, also reduce the tendency of the car to heel-over while rounding corners."

NEW DELHI — Gen. Andre Costadoat, 67, former chief of the French Army Medical Corps, died Monday. Costadoat was one of the French delegates to the conference of the International Red Cross meeting in New Delhi.

The San Luis Valley Railroad, 31-mile rail line in Colorado, has received I.C.C. permission to abandon all but two miles of its track. Reason: No finances to buy new motive power.

THE BOLD LINES OF BUICK'S 1958 styling are exemplified in the luxury and beauty of the Buick Special, the big volume seller in the Buick line. Dual headlights and a dazzling new grille add breadth and lowness to the front end design. The Special, which is mounted on a 122-inch wheelbase, boasts new and bigger brakes, and exquisite new interiors that complement the glamorous exterior colors. The new miracle air ride and either variable pitch or the revolutionary flight pitch Dynaflex are optional equipment on the Special series which comes in seven models.

PENNSY VOTERS INDIFFERENT TO 1957 ELECTIONS

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG — The municipal elections are just a week away and a single word—apathy—typifies the outlook of the average voter throughout the Commonwealth.

The hoopla and ballyhoo of getting out the vote, so evident in years when a governor or president are being elected, are lacking. So are the whirlwind speaking campaigns and high-powered television appearances.

The absence of any statewide contests is expected to keep thousands of voters away from the polls simply because of indifference. But some interest seems to be picking up on two constitutional amendments that will appear on the ballot:

Korean Bonus
1. Shall 150 million dollars be borrowed to pay a bonus of up to $500 to Pennsylvania veterans of the Korean War?
2. Shall absentee voting privileges be extended to persons ill at home or unavoidably out of town on election day?

American Legion officials said yesterday they expected the Korean bonus question to bring out a heavier vote than anticipated. Political leaders will look next Tuesday for signs of what might be expected in the 1958 gubernatorial election.

Thousands of county, city, borough, township and school officials will be elected although there is no uniformity of offices to be filled.

Look To 1958
Both parties are pushing for control of county courthouses and city halls since officials elected will run the party machinery for next year.

Both party chieftains mentioned 1958 in re-election statements. Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said registration gains by his party point to greater Democratic inroads in Republican counties.

The municipal elections two years ago saw Democrats increase their control from 11 to 27. "We are stressing this election

SPENDING TOPS HEALTH FUNDS

PITTSBURGH — At the rate the state is spending money on its mental health program 15 million dollars more will have been spent than the Legislature allocated for the present biennium, says the state welfare secretary.

Harry Shapiro told the Men's Chapter of the Mt. Lebanon Presbyterian Church last night that the legislature allocated $138 million for the mental health program over a two-year period.

"We are now spending at the rate of $125 per patient per day, or 153 million dollars," he added. "But we will not let the standards go down in any hospital for anything."

Shapiro said that for the first time in 12 years the mental patient population in state institutions is going down. Within 10 years he visualizes an adult population of 30,000 in these hospitals. But to attain that figure, Shapiro said, the institutional census must be reduced by a thousand patients every year.

as an important offe on the local level and one that will be prelude to a smashing Democratic triumph on a statewide bases in 1958," Barr said.

His Republican counterpart, George I. Bloom, didn't go into specific issues or figures but said it was "vitaly important" for 1958 that Republicans be elected to local office this year.

"From the reports I've received from various sections of the state the Republican candidates will give a good account of themselves on election day."

with a

Burner-with-a-Brain GAS Range!

Bacon won't burn on the new GAS Burner with a Brain. Why? Because when you set the temperature, there's an automatic "sensing" control that simply won't let the food get any hotter.

Mashed potatoes stay warm without drying out. You merely set the dial to a keep-warm temperature. When potatoes reach just the right heat, the automatic burner turns the flame down. If they start to cool off, it turns the flame up. 50 minutes later, your potatoes are still soft and creamy!

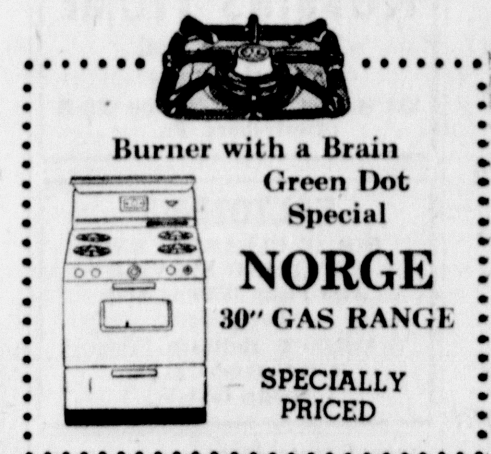

Deep-fried food won't get soggy. The secret of perfect deep-frying is having the temperature of the fat just right. With the new GAS Burner with a Brain, there's no guesswork, no need to buy a separate deep-fryer—just dial the right cooking temperature. Fried foods come out golden crisp outside, deliciously tender inside!

Cream sauces won't curdle. Icings and sauces can't overcook because they don't overheat when you set the correct temperature. You can even heat milk with no risk of curdling or boilover.

LAWRENCE IS WORKING HARD FOR RE-ELECTION

By CHARLES WELSH
PITTSBURGH (AP) — With Pittsburgh's Mayor David L. Lawrence campaigning confidently but still vigorously for election to a fourth successive term, western Pennsylvania interest in the Nov. 5 election also is focused on a scrap for district attorney in Lawrence County and mayoralty contests in several large cities.

Lawrence, campaigning on the record of his leadership in the famed Pittsburgh "renaissance," has at least the tacit aid of some powerful Republicans who have been allied with him in redevelopment of the city.

Opposing Lawrence, who is 68, is 44-year-old John Drew, an attorney and former Common Pleas Court judge. Drew has been banging away at what he calls mismanagement of the police and some other city departments, and expressing the hope his administration would be able to reduce and eventually eliminate the city's 1 1/2 per cent wage tax.

Libel and Conspiracy
Thirty miles north of Pittsburgh, charges of libel and conspiracy have rocked the Lawrence County campaign. Eight persons have been indicted and Dist. Atty. Perry L. Reher, a Republican seeking reelection, first was superseded by the state attorney general and then formally charged with conspiracy.

The charges are that libelous literature was distributed during the primary election campaign in an attempt to discredit several candidates, among them Reher's opponent. Reher pleaded innocent, asked for quick trial of the case but refused to waive grand jury indictment after the state declined to give him names of persons who would have been called to testify.

His opponent is Atty. Joseph Solomon, the Democratic nominee. Solomon, a former Lawrence County Republican committeeman switched parties several years ago and is regarded as a formidable candidate. Both Reher and Solomon are New Castle residents.

Vote On City Plan
Ellwood City voters will ballot on whether to change the community's government; status from a borough to a third class city.

Central figure in one of the major mayoralty fights is Frank Koprivier, Republican chief executive of Duquesne and a veteran state senator. Koprivier is seeking election to a fourth term. His opponent, blind Atty. Leonard Staisey is attacking Koprivier's city administration and claims solid Democratic organization support which previous Koprivier opponents did not have.

Greensburg will elect a new mayor to succeed former state police Maj. Andrew J. Hudock who

SAYS DANGER OF WAR IS SERIOUS

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Graham says the danger of war is greater now "than at any other time in the past 10 years."

The evangelist told a religious rally of 40,000 persons at the Polo Grounds on Sunday that President Eisenhower should "tell the American people exactly where we stand."

"The American people are not children," Graham declared. They want the facts straight from the shoulder. The President is the only person with the prestige and confidence of the American people to call this nation into a period of sacrifice, renewed dedication and a return to God."

Graham spoke at a service climaxed "Visitation Week," an annual event of the Protestant Council of Churches of New York City.

This year's visitation program concentrated on the 56,676 persons who made "decisions for Christ" at Graham's New York crusade, last summer. A total of 1,284 went forward Sunday.

CATHOLIC RITE DENIED HOODLUM

NEW YORK (AP) — Albert Anastasia, slain gangster, was buried Monday with brief ceremony and small pomp.

About 30 persons, including the sobbing widow, Elsa, and his brothers, "Tough Tony" and Gerardo, attended a 10-minute service in a Brooklyn funeral home.

Four limousines accompanied the hearse carrying the plain mahogany-colored metal casket to Greenwood Cemetery.

Only a dozen floral wreaths were taken along. About 70 more were left at another branch of the funeral home.

Although he was a Roman Catholic, there was no Mass for Anastasia and interment was in non-consecrated ground.

Reporters and photographers were barred from the 125-seat chapel during the service. A spokesman for the funeral home said that the family asked that the press be kept out.

An unidentified man turned back the press with the comment: "Why don't you mind your own business?"

Prior to the service, William Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Assn., and Thomas Gleason, an organizer for the union, visited the funeral home. Tony Anastasia is a boss of ILA activities in Brooklyn.

Crowd Outside
Outside the chapel several hundred spectators crowded the sidewalk.

The funeral sharply contrasted the elaborate burial given another Anastasia brother, Joseph, a dock hiring boss, when he died of natural causes in May, 1956.

On that occasion a mile-long cortege went to the cemetery. There were $15,000 worth of floral tributes and the casket was an elaborate $6,000 one.

As Albert, the 55-year-old boss of Murder Inc., went to his grave, police continued their search for the two gunmen who shot him to death as he sat in a barber chair in midtown Friday.

Gets Union Support
The United Steelworkers Political Action Committee in McKeesport is supporting Democratic Mayor Andrew J. Jakomas' bid for another term. His Republican opponent is Clifford W. Flegal, a former city clerk.

Mayor Raymond E. Gardlock, veteran Democratic leader in New Kensington, is campaigning for a third term against Norman L. Koonz, Republican, chairman of the city's Redevelopment Authority.

SPY IS DENIED COURT APPEAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has rejected a new bid for freedom by Morton Sobell, convicted of atomic espionage with Ethel and Julius Rosenberg.

Sobell, sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment, is serving his eighth year in Alcatraz Penitentiary. The Rosenbergs were executed in June, 1953.

On applications of one sort or another, Sobell's case has been considered by the Supreme Court six times—always with the result that the conviction remained undisturbed.

Monday's action was on a plea of Sobell's attorneys that the court reverse itself in the earlier refusal to hear his case.

The high court took no action on two other petitions filed on Sobell's behalf. It presumably will act on these later this fall.

In these the attorneys asked a review of refusals by federal courts in New York to grant Sobell hearings. The petitions charged, among other things, that Sobell's conviction was "steeped in fraud and tainted by false and perjured evidence."

U. S. Dist. Judge Irving R. Kaufman of New York considered this contention in June, 1956, and ruled it was baseless.

Fickle Fanny To Pay Good Dividend
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The 317 shareholders of the Fickle Fanny gas well will receive $3,686 for each $100 originally invested according to a ruling Monday in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court.

The ruling resulted from a suit filed by the shareholders against John A. McGuire who promoted investments in the Clinton County well that technically was known as Tamarac No. 1.

Judge Henry Ellenbogen ordered McGuire to pay the shareholders a total of $579,566. The suit originally sought $800,000. The well no longer is producing.

UNIVERSITY PARK PA. (AP) — Jacks, Penn State quarterback will be out for the remainder of the football season due to shoulder injury suffered Saturday in the game against Syracuse, university officials reported Monday.

He will be replaced by Richie Lucas.

British railways have rubber buffers and springs to absorb shock and vibration when they transport fragile cargoes of glass. This precaution reduces breakage.

War Of Tomorrow Would Make Greater Demands On Industries Than Last One

NEW YORK (AP) — Any war of tomorrow could put a strain on the nation's industries far beyond the challenge they met so successfully in World War II.

Industrial engineers say that missiles call for complicated parts and strange alloys that require more steps in manufacture, more men and machines than did the comparatively simpler engines of destruction in the last war.

Many of the problems aren't licked yet—problems that didn't enter into the older type of warfare at all. Even after they are solved, setting up high speed production lines for missiles in an emergency would be both for more automation and for more skilled workers.

100,000 On Missiles
Industrialists in World War II were startled when President Roosevelt ordered production multiplied several fold to turn out 50,000 warplanes a year. The job was done in time by the aircraft industry and its host of suppliers and the civilian industries that were transformed into war plants.

The Defense Department's expenditure on missiles is a secret, but industry estimates it to be about three billion dollars a year, twice what it was two years ago. Perhaps 100,000 persons work on them in dozens of plants. More money could be poured in, if Congress ordered—but it would take more than money to get the host of missiles that war might demand.

Fred K. Powell, Jr., vice president of engineering for American Machine & Foundry, contends: "By conventional modern methods of manufacture, it has already been found that there aren't enough people in the country to make the small transformers and relays which would be needed for guided missiles in a full dress, ready for war missile armaments program."

Making Progress
But progress toward more automation is reported. For example, synchro coils are needed in vast numbers in missile equipment. In each synchro, about the size of an egg, there are 2,000 feet of wire. Normally it takes girl factory workers 40 minutes to wind these

SYRIA, RUSSIA SIGN NEW PACT

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria and the Soviet Union Monday signed an economic agreement providing for extensive development projects with Russian machinery, equipment and technical assistance.

Sources said the Soviets would supply 100 million dollars worth of materials, equipment and assistance for the building of dams, highways, railroads and irrigation projects.

Syria is to pay the money back over a 12-year period at 2 1/2 per cent interest.

In the continuing Syrian-Turkish tension a Syrian announcement said that 30 Turkish soldiers crossed the frontier Friday and moved 200 yards into Syria to the village of Garteke.

Jordan yesterday declared its entire border with Syria a closed and restricted area. The military governor of the Ajloun district said the step was taken in the interests of public security on the Jordan-Syrian border.

coils with small winding machines. New methods and machines by AM&F now allow one operator to run four machines at a time and produce four synchros in seven minutes.

Engineering as well as manufacturing problems still abound. Industrial scientists are busy studying what happens to electronic and mechanical equipment in a missile as it goes through unaccustomed atmospheric conditions of the ionosphere, which man now has penetrated.

One such study is under way at a laboratory of Litton Industries of Los Angeles. There scientists are also testing lubricants for use in high altitudes where ordinary ones vaporize or lose their properties. There's also the problem of what happens to the intercontinental ballistic missile warhead when it reenters the earth's atmosphere at 18,000 miles an hour.

Paper Barrier Too
When, some years hence, all the scientific and production problems are licked in America, Orval R. Cook, president of the Aircraft Industries Assn., quotes military experts as expecting that missiles will be handling most air defense missions and up to half of offensive missions.

Missiles call for harder, tougher and costlier heat resistant steels and new high strength light metals. Republic Steel engineers say these metals are more complex to work with, more demanding of lead time than were the carbon steels of World War I and the aluminum and magnesium of World War II.

Industry also will be up against a paper barrier, too, in a major conflict. Already, industry production chiefs say, the blueprints and specification sheets for the more complex missiles weigh more than the finished product.
